IFBT Held Its First Instruction Course in Leuven

We are pleased to announce that the International Federation of Beach Tennis has recently held a successful Instructor Course in Leuven, Belgium. The course happened at the Universiteit Sport centrum KU in Leuven, Belgium on the weekend 18/19 March 2023.

The course took place over the weekend and was designed to provide the participants with the necessary skills and knowledge to become certified IFBT instructors. The course covered a wide range of topics such as rules and regulations of beach tennis, coaching techniques, and injury prevention.

The course was led by IFBT Master Coach Educator, Antonio Ridao that dozen number of students in attendance. The idea of the project came from the collaboration between Hof Ter Burst Tennis Club in Lebekke and Adrenaline Beach Tennis Club in the UK. The project was focused on practical education giving the students the possibility of getting experience in real-world situations.

IFBT is committed to promoting and developing beach tennis as a sport, and providing equality education and training for instructors is an important part of this effort. Instructor course was just one of many of our steps to help grow the sport and provide opportunities for players and coaches at all levels.

We congratulate all the participants for their achievements and wish them the best of luck as they begin their journey as IFBT certified instructors.
